

15 April 2021

The Victorian Government updates on 26 March 2021 have impacted business activities in Victoria in response to the COVID-19 pandemic.

In line with these updates, FAL Lawyers will undertake the following actions:

1. All staff wishing to work from our commercial offices are able to return to the office, and will not be required to carry a Work Permit
2. Staff are able to continue to work from home if desired
3. Staff may resume interstate travel, complying with the requirements of all Australian states and territories
4. All visitors to our office must register their attendance using our QR code.

We understand businesses may continue to have a sense of concern and uncertainty. Key issues include how you manage employees and what options you have, supply chain management, and the quick changes that may need to be made in order to sustain your business operating model.

We are here to assist. Please call your FAL Lawyers key contact, or any member of our team. FAL will continue to operate business as usual to ensure we are able to continue to service our clients. We thank you for your continued support during this tough economic period and hope you remain safe and well.

Yours Sincerely

Peter Francis, Jenni Lightowlers, Susan Reece Jones, Paul Dawson-Bak, Adrian Snooks and Chloe
